'Exiles Say Cuban Mill Was Razed by Bomber

MIAMI, Sept. 8 (AP)—A Cuban exile group said today that a twin-engine bomber completely destroyed a sugar mill in Camagüey Province in eastern Cuba last night.

Dr. Orlando Bosch, head of the Revolutionary Recovery Movement, said the plane dropped six 50-pound bombs on the mill. Four hit the target, he said.

Dr. Bosch said the plane flew from a concealed base in Central America and was over Cuban territory for about an hour. He said it received only a sprinkling of antiaircraft gunfire, apparently from guards at the mill. Otherwise the craft was unmolested.

The Cuban Government said Friday that two bombers escorted by jet fighters tried to raid a Cuban Air Force base in Santa Clara, central Cuba, Thursday, but were driven off by antiaircraft fire.

It said one person was killed when the planes dropped bombs around Santa Clara as they flew away.
